

Encoding Files

To encode a file within an image file using a password the user must select an image file, a file to be encoded within the image file, enter a password, and click the Encode button.

Click the “Select Image” button to select the image for encoding.

Click “Select File” button to select the file for encoding.

Provide a password and the confirm it for the encoded image.

Click “Encode” to encode the file.

A popup window will appear displaying the status of the encode operation

Once the encoding is completed, click “File” and click “Save Encoded Image” and choose the directory where it should be saved and then click “Save”.

A popup window will display a successful operation.

Decoding Files

To decode a file within an image file that was encoded using a password the user must select an image file to be decoded, enter a password, and click the “Decode” button.

To decode the image and extract the required file from the encoded image

Click the “Select Image” button to select the encoded image.

Provide the password for that particular image to decode the image.

A popup window will appear displaying the status of the decode operation.

To save the decoded file from the decoded image, click “File” and then click “Save Decoded File”. After choosing the path for the file, click “Save”.

After clicking “Save” a popup window will display a successful save operation.